2 Grammar Lesson: "Be Going to" vs "Going to Be"

Understanding the Difference

Key Concept

These two structures look similar but have completely different meanings and uses. Let's learn when to use each one correctly.

2.1 1. BE GOING TO (Future Intentions/Plans)

Structure: Subject + am/is/are + going to + base verb

Usage: To express future plans, intentions, or predictions based on present evidence.

Examples:

- I am going to study medicine next year. (future plan)
- She is going to travel to Paris. (intention)
- It is going to rain. (prediction based on dark clouds)
- We are going to buy a new car. (plan)
- They are going to start a business. (intention)

2.2 2. GOING TO BE (Future State/Condition)

Structure: Subject + am/is/are + going to + be + adjective/noun/location

Usage: To describe what someone or something will be in the future (a state, condition, profession, or location).

Examples:

- I am going to be a doctor. (future profession)
- She is going to be happy about this news. (future feeling)
- It is going to be difficult. (future condition)
- We are going to be in London next week. (future location)
- They are going to be late. (future state)

2.3 Common Mistakes to Avoid

WRONG

- I am going to be study English.
- She is going to be travel tomorrow.
- They are going to be go to the party.

CORRECT

- I am going to study English.
- She is going to travel tomorrow.
- They are going to go to the party.

2.4 Quick Decision Chart

maincolor!20 Use "BE GOING TO + VERB"	Use "GOING TO BE + ADJ/NOUN"
When talking about actions	When talking about states or conditions
going to do something	going to become/exist as something going to eat, study, work, play	going to be tired, happy, a teacher, late

5 Writing Topics

Instructions

Choose ONE of the following topics and write an essay of 250-300 words. Use the vocabulary and grammar structures you have learned. Pay special attention to using "be going to" and "going to be" correctly.

Topic 1: My Future Plans

Write about your plans for the next 5-10 years. What are you going to do? What kind of person are you going to be? What career path are you going to follow? Include:

- Your educational goals
- Your career aspirations
- Personal development plans
- Where you are going to live
- How you are going to achieve your goals

Remember: Use "be going to + verb" for actions and plans, and "going to be + adjective/noun" for states and conditions.

Topic 2: The Impact of Technology on Education

Discuss how technology is going to change education in the future. Consider:

- How students are going to learn differently
- What role teachers are going to have
- What new technologies are going to be introduced
- Whether traditional classrooms are going to disappear
- The advantages and disadvantages of these changes

Challenge: Try to use at least 10 C2-level vocabulary words from your vocabulary list in this essay.

Topic 3: A Letter to Your Future Self

Write a letter to yourself 10 years from now. Describe:

- What you hope your life is going to be like
- What achievements you are going to have accomplished
- What kind of person you are going to be
- What advice you want to give your future self
- What you are going to remember about this moment in time

Tip: This is a personal and reflective piece. Use both "be going to" for your plans and predictions, and "going to be" for describing your future state and circumstances.

Good Luck, Kamer!

Take your time with each section and remember to review your grammar carefully.
